

QUEENLY EMBRACE — Debra Traasdahl, 18-year-old blue-eyed blonde, left, Saturday was crowned Miss Damboree of 1971 after winning bathing beauty contest at Boulder City's Fourth of July celebration. Here, last year's Damboree Queen, Susan Hanmore, embraces her successor.

ARGENTINE POLICE 'GROUND' HIJACKER

U.S. celebrates 195th birthday

By The Associated Press
At home and abroad, solemnly and in high spirits, Americans marked the 195th anniversary of the nation's birth Sunday.

In some places, the July 4 weekend festivities had been kicked off Saturday, in others the 'LOLITA' WEDS — Sue Lyon, 24-year-old movie actress who starred in the film version of "Lolita," married Roland V. Harrison, 33, of Los Angeles Sunday afternoon at a Las Vegas wedding chapel. Former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis was among the relatives and friends who witnessed the brief ceremony.

main celebration comes Monday, a holiday for much of the work force.
In Washington, President Nixon and top government officials looked beyond the current anniversary and started the five-year countdown to Independence Day 1976, the bicentennial of the United States.

In a ceremony in the National Archives, where the original Declaration of Independence is displayed, President Nixon opened the "bicentennial era" Saturday night, declaring the goal of the nation between now and 1976 is "the building of an open world."

In Vietnam, an independence Day message from the U.S. commander, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, to his men Sunday said America's independence "remains unchanged but not unchallenged."

"The scene has changed," Abrams said, "but the purpose and goals that fired the Americans of 1776 have remained intact."
"As we honor our nation...we do so with the hope and conviction that the liberty that we enjoy might some day be shared by all mankind."

In neighboring Cambodia, American embassy and military officials gathered in a villa outside Phnom Penh for a hamburger-hot dog-baked bean-and-potato salad cookout. They played touch football and water polo in a drenching monsoon.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew drank a champagne toast to the country as his traveling party celebrated Independence Day in his jet above Southeast Asia, en route from Seoul, South Korea, to Singapore. The vice president then cut into a cake that bore the greeting "Happy 4th of July."

In Manila, Americans took note of the day in ceremonies commemorating the burning and burial of American flags by U.S. personnel there 29 years ago to keep the stars and stripes from falling into the hands of the invading Japanese army. Ambassador Henry Byroade unveiled a monument symbolically marking the spot where the deed was done.

KAPOW! BOOM! — The sounds of the 4th of July exploded all over town Sunday in celebration of independence or otherwise. This spectacular display was sponsored by the Las Vegas Fire Department at Cashman Field at 8 p.m.

R-J Photo by Don Zirkle

Kissinger, Thieu map out peace plan

SAIGON (AP) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and President Nguyen Van Thieu mapped out an allied reply to the new Communist peace proposal Sunday and explored ways of speeding U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam, informed sources reported.

The 2½-hour strategy meeting at Independence Palace was one of the most significant of the Indochina war, the informants said. Although details of the session were kept secret, aides to Kissinger described the conference as "fruitful."

The importance of the meeting was underscored by its length. The sources said they could not recall Thieu spending as much time with any other visiting dignitary.

The government-operated national television network, in a newscast Sunday night, said Thieu and Kissinger discussed three main subjects: the peace negotiations, the war situation in Vietnam and South Vietnam's national economy. It gave no details.

The war faded for the time being, with only a series of patrol skirmishes reported, none of them significant.

Just the same, U.S. B52 bombers kept the pressure on North Vietnamese forces massed in the northern quarter of South Vietnam below the demilitarized zone and along the Laotian border.

Up to a score of the giant Stratofortresses dropped 600 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese troops concentrations, bunkers, ammunition and food storage depots, and rocket, mortar and antiaircraft sites. Some of the raids were within a mile and a half of the DMZ.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian high command reported that Cambodian forces sweeping vast marshlands northeast of the capital killed 38 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the first significant clash there in two weeks.

Command spokesman Am Rong said one government soldier was killed and two wounded in the encounter across the Mekong River from the capital, where heavy fighting raged for three weeks in June.

The situation is generally calm elsewhere in the country, Am Rong added.

After his meeting with Thieu, Kissinger lunched with Deputy U.S. Ambassador Samuel Berger and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam. During the afternoon, he conferred with George D. Jacobson, the acting chief of the U.S. pacification program in Vietnam, and Emory C. Swank, the U.S. ambassador to Cambodia.

Former Rand employe attacks Laird charge

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — A former employe at Rand Corp. has taken Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird to task for alleging, in the wake of the Daniel Ellsberg-Pentagon papers case, that Rand has deficiencies in its security system.

In fact, says Dr. Bernard Brodie, "Rand security is tighter than security at the Pentagon."

Brodie worked at Rand, the Santa Monica "think tank" that does research for government agencies, for 15 years. He also worked at the Pentagon. He left Rand in 1966 and is now a political science professor at the University of California in Los Angeles.

Ellsberg, 40, was indicted by a federal grand jury here last week on charges he had unauthorized possession of the study — Rand had two copies — and converted it to his own use when he was a government consultant at Rand in late 1969.

Laird, reacting to the leak of the secret study on U.S. involvement in Vietnam, ordered the Air Force Friday to take control of all secret documents at Rand.

In a memorandum to Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans, Laird said, in part, that federal investigators had "found a number of deficiencies in the security system and practices of Rand Corp."

But Brodie said he thinks Laird is unjustly "punishing" Rand, one of a dozen "think tank" firms doing high level defense research work for the government.

Brodie, who said he served at one time as special assistant to the then-Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, said in a weekend interview he believes Pentagon security has remained unchanged from his days there.

"Anyone can walk out with a briefcase or suitcase without anybody saying anything," he said. "A good many people are authorized to carry secrets out."

"Most of the senior officers I know habitually carried home secret documents and, I would

Jakarta elections 'rigged'

JAKARTA (AP) — Amid charges of manipulation of votes and intimidation, the government-supported group Sekber Golkar continued to roll toward an overwhelming victory over the nation's nine political parties Sunday in Indonesia's parliamentary elections.

Semi-official returns from the three key provinces of West, Central and East Java indicated Golkar victories.

In the former Nationalist party — PNU — stronghold of Central Java, partial returns showed Golkar would score absolute victories in the important cities of Solo, Klaten and Semarang.

Officials said it appeared Golkar would win 60 per cent of the vote in West Java and roughly 50 per cent in East Java, the nation's most heavily populated province. More than half of Indonesia's 57 million voters live on the crowded island of Java.

East Java, traditional stronghold of the Moslem party Nahdlatul Ulama — NU — remained in question. Nu Chairman Subchan, who claimed "absolute victory" for his party in East Java after the polls closed Saturday, said Sunday the party still was holding a lead there.

Official figures showed Nu far ahead of Golkar on the island of Madura, which belongs to East Java, with 226,000 votes to Golkar's 60,000 with 70 per cent of the votes counted. But in the provincial capital of Surabaya, Golkar had picked up more than 55 per cent of the votes counted.

U.S. Navy bomb cargo derailed

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa. (AP) — Sixteen Erie Lackawanna railroad box cars loaded with partially assembled, high explosive bombs derailed near this small northwestern Pennsylvania community Sunday, state police said.

The area was sealed off by police and army personnel. A railroad spokesman said there was no fire and little danger of an explosion because the bombs lacked fuses.

There was no indication of how many bombs were aboard the train, but a spokesman at an Army installation in Harmony, west of Pittsburgh, said he understood the devices were "class A, high explosive" bombs. He declined to say whether they were conventional or release their size.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said two cars on the train leased by the Defense Department carried 1,000 pound conventional navy bombs, without fuses or fins.

The train, the Pentagon said, was en route from the Naval Ordnance Depot at Crane, Ind., to the Naval Air Depot at Earle, N.J., when a flat wheel caused the derailment.

'Jesus Christ Superstar' at Big I July 15

"Jesus Christ Superstar," the hottest rock-opera in the country today, comes into the International Hotel's legit theatre on July 15 for an indefinite stay. The announcement came from the Big I today, finally putting to rest weeks of rumors about the arrival in Las Vegas of the big attraction. It will be billed as the Imperial Rock-Opera Company presenting all the principal selections (See DUKE, Page 3)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Grounded by Argentina's refusal to cooperate with an airplane hijacker, Robert Lee Jackson walked off the Braniff jetliner he held for nearly two days and surrendered quietly Sunday to police—his fingers raised in a V sign.

His female companion had given herself up several hours earlier.

Jackson's 43-hour hop, skip and jump escapade from Texas to this Argentine capital ended in his failure to obtain the political asylum he wanted in Algeria.

Jackson, 36, a U.S. Navy deserter, had wanted to fly to that North African country with $100,000 in ransom money he had received for the release of a passenger he held hostage in Monterrey, Mexico, on Saturday. But the Argentine government refused to let the Braniff International 707 jet take on the necessary fuel.

In San Antonio, Tex., the aircraft's destination before it was hijacked on Friday, the FBI said Jackson had been charged with air piracy and assault with a deadly weapon.

John Wachter, legal counsel of the U.S. Embassy in Buenos Aires, had said the United States would seek Jackson's extradition.

But Argentine officials said this would not be possible because of the seriousness of Argentina's charges against him: kidnaping and theft of an aircraft.

Wachter then said the United States would seek Jackson's "informal deportation."

Police had quoted Jackson as saying before his surrender that he wanted to remain in Argentina.

He left the aircraft at Ezeiza International Airport with the ransom money in a suitcase, police said. He made the V sign with his fingers as he walked between two policemen to a car. The policemen had removed a pistol from his belt.

Jackson had been without sleep for two days. Before his surrender he permitted the six Braniff crew members to leave the plane and he remained aboard for an hour.

Hours before, his woman companion—Guatemalan-born Lydia Lucrecia Sanchez, a resident of Mexico—had walked off the aircraft and was taken into custody.

Police said Jackson had changed to fresh clothes—a green sports shirt and sweater and brown slacks—before giving up.

"He was rather benevolent in the end," Wachter said. "He didn't want to do anyone any harm and he let the crew leave the craft before finally surrendering himself."

Jackson and the woman who had accompanied him on his hijack adventure were held most of the day at the airport where they were questioned by the police. A psychiatrist also spoke with Jackson, police said.

Miss Sanchez, 23, apparently was someone Jackson met only a few days ago in Mexico, Wachter said.

Weather, index

Monday, July 5, 1971
Sunny with southerly breeze and evening winds 15 to 20 m.p.h.

Today		Tomorrow		A Year Ago
High	Low	High	Low	High	Low
105	70	101	76	107	81
Humidity 97 per cent		Humidity 97 per cent		Humidity 97 per cent
Sunrise 5:29

Classified 15 12
Comics 11 11
Childrens 17 17
Movies 4 4
Sports 14 14
Television 9 11
Weather 6 7