ALL RIGHT, SIR?

75bestalive.org

If you are really serious about your girl, give her a dual-controlled electric blanket for Christmas.

Psychiatrist (interviewing a Cadet)

"Do you have dreams, Mister?"

"Yes, Sir, I have dreams."

"What do you dream about?"

"Baseball, Sir."

"Don't you every dream about girls?"

"WHAT, AND LOSE MY TURN AT BAT?"

"WELL, WHAT DID SHEP HAVE TO SAY AT THE STAFF MEETING TODAY?"

An indifferent girl is one who spills coffee on her lap and does not care which leg it runs down.....

Irritated Wife: "How, can you come home half drunk?"

Hubby: "It's not my fault-- I ran out of money."

EYES AND EARS

Since the dining hall provided us with cider and donuts for Halloween, we're all looking forward to Sadie Hawkins Day Nov. 25th.

It wasn't so bad that we couldn't wash when the water (H₂O for chemistry students) was cut off..... but did you ever try to brush your teeth with cider..... or listerine?????

With the mid-term grade reports out and all the Ds in..... they are renaming the courses. Suggestions: Pharmacy 101, Bureaucracy 301, Plumbing 301, 401, Erector Sets 331 and Science Fiction 411, 412. Languages will be designated as Greek I, II, III, IV, IX.....

After the football trouncing they were given the AOC 'S have been officially redesignated as AOCP

THE DODO'S SECRETARY

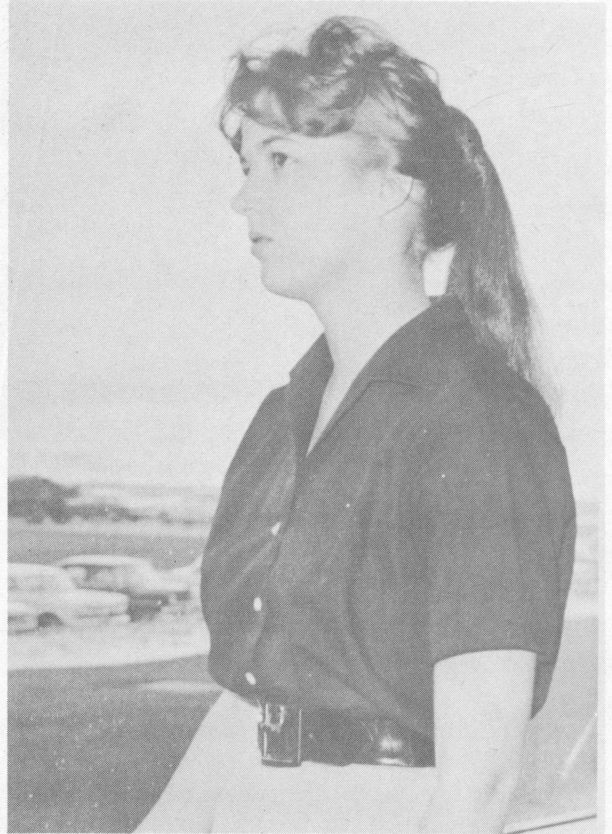

Last week, the Dodo, while inadvertently walking by the Physics Department, stopped, ruffled its feathers, and took a second look. The reason was Miss Devonne Pantle, the Department's clerk stenographer.

After a third look we found out that Miss Pantle was 20 years old, 5'7", had brown hair and hazel eyes. Needless to say, Devonne is a very attractive young lass.

In high school she was homecoming queen and while at stenographic school was voted the girl most likely to run out of ink. Best of all, when she has enough money (and enough gas) she dates cadets.

Soft-spoken Devonne has been with us for over a year. Said Devonne profoundly when asked how she liked working in the Physics Department, "E equals MC^2 ".

AIR FORCE VS. NEW MEXICO

Story by DBS

Photos by Shagner

Two Air Force Academy fumbles led to New Mexico touchdowns and a third thwarted a Cadet drive on the Lobo two yard line as NMU smashed the Falcons 21-6 at Albuquerque. Only a last minute desperation drive engineered by quarterback Allen McArtor spared the Cadets their second consecutive shut-out defeat.

The speedy Lobos capitalized on Falcon errors in posting their season's third victory, as they peppered the Air Force defense with a searing attack. The bright spots in the Blue defense were linebacker Joe Rodwell, playing his first game in that capacity, and hard-charging junior guard Stu Fenske.

Sophomores once again paced the Falcon offensive attack, led by another sterling performance on Terry Isaacson's part including the Cadets' lone touchdown scamper. Valuable yardage was also credited to hard running fullback Nick Arshinkoff, scrappy halfback Darryl Bloodworth, and quarterback McArtor.

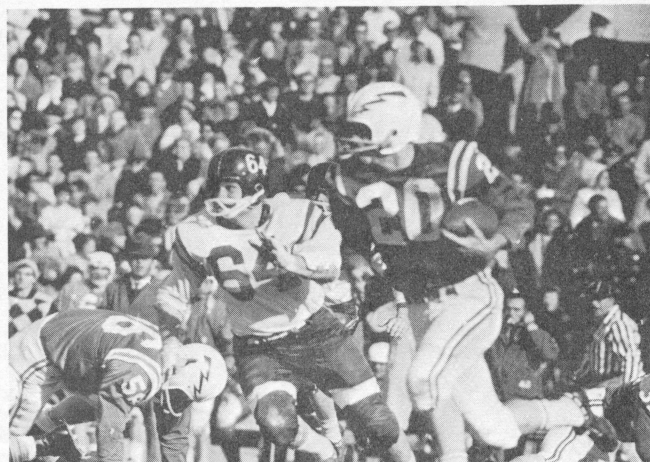

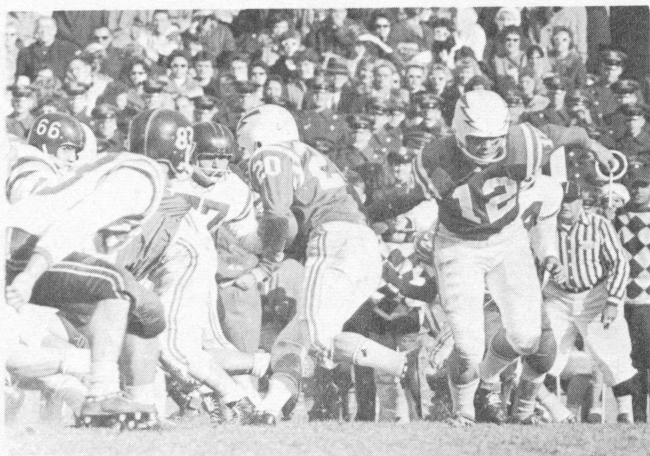

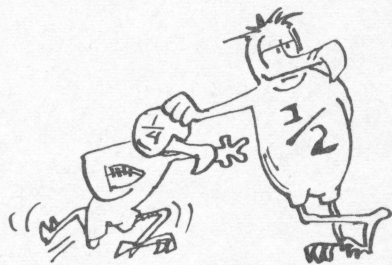

CARBERRY PROVED DEFINITELY WRONG AGAIN

The Falcons drew first blood when, on the second play of the second quarter brilliant junior end Carlton Simpson snagged a Darryl Bloodworth pass skirted two would-be Aggie tacklers, and darted 32 yards into the endzone. Skinney also paved the way to the winning Cadet Score with his sixth reception of the day. a brilliant leaping catch of Terry Isaacson's 36-yard third quarter toss. Two plays later a pass interference call on the CSU three-yard line set the stage for Terry's second touchdown scamper. DBS

MONDAY

Heimburger

A physical culture magazine ran this ad: "Would you like to test your muscles? Try this simple exercise. Clasp hands over head and place feet together on the floor. Now bend to the right at the waist as you sit down to the left of your feet. Then you haul yourself up, bend to the left, then to the right, and sit slowly down on the floor to the right of your feet. Twist sharply left, then right, crossing feet at same time. Stick with it and let us know the results."
