1. In keeping with good psychology, we have decided not to call this the "Back-From-Leave" issue, but to term it the "here we go again" edition. Some of us already know the meaning of figmo- it took us $3\frac{1}{2}$ academic days. Enough depressing information; let's look at the silver linings:

a. The haircut policy is at last reasonable. (See p.10) Short, but no scars on the sides and moderate but military on top is the new word.

b. We now have even less to worry about, since they've assumed the responsibility for another decision: when to go to sleep. You will now be programmed to be tired at 2245 if in the under two classes or at 2400 if in the upper two. This is fundamentally good, since we now have an excuse to put on the 103 which we are writing to explain why we are tardy in submitting work to the Dean. Not doing homework is now a federal offense, because it can only be interpreted as a lack of professionalism and intense pride in the military whole-man concept- either that or you were tired that night.

c. We now have not one, not two, but three chances to excel on Saturday morning. Think what characters we'll develop. Just the other weekend as we were standing through a 45 minute IRI, we were getting prouder every minute that we're at the good ole AFA.

d. We are now officially running the Wing. Certain misconceptions may exist as to what this means. "Running" does not mean policy-making; it means enforcing those policies and following orders so that when someone (anyone) tells you to take that machine-gun nest you won't ask why. We are proud to be the first service academy to have student government. You see, things really are looking up, and we're glad to see that all this military brainwashing hasn't affected us.

Gas up with filthy Gossip

Well, folks, welcome to the Red Plan, complete with its new, hot-off-the-press guide available at your disorderly room 50 cents- or was it 3 cons? Anyway, the old Blue Zoo is looking up, for now in our collection we have two birds- a robin and a martin, a domesticated lamb, and an undomesticated fox.

The northwest corner of Fairies is still operating as usual; however, the fourth floor handball court has a new occupant who does not need JATO like the former. Their biggest accomplishment this summer was winning a federal grant for the "North Gate to Parking Lot" time survey. This is not surprising, since the Dean has had his hands in the time study pie for some time.

Some of the minor members of the elite have been busy this summer, too. The more notable instances were The Big Zap for going $25\frac{1}{2}$ in a 25 zone and the write-Friday-Made -for-Airing bed (Fo

For those of you who haven't heard, says Alexander Dubcek is going of the Class of 69-- or was it honorary Czechs?

On the lighter side, it's noted (particle of coach) and after-dinnerterback call his own plays. Cl for this decision was that the as to why he carried those cards plays.

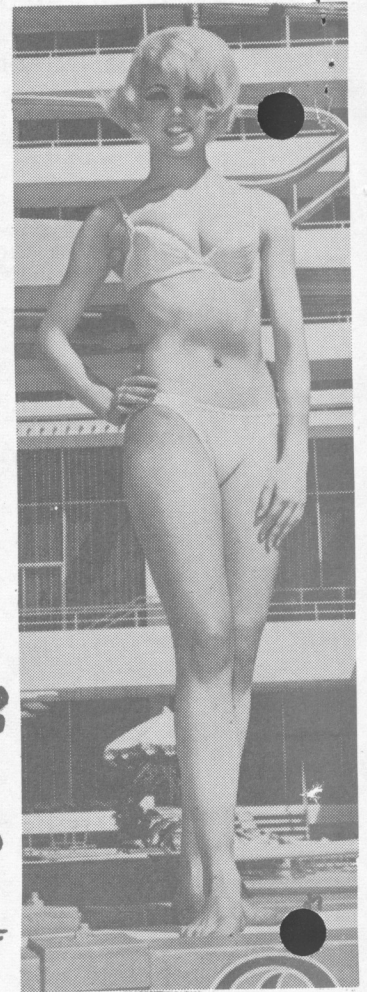

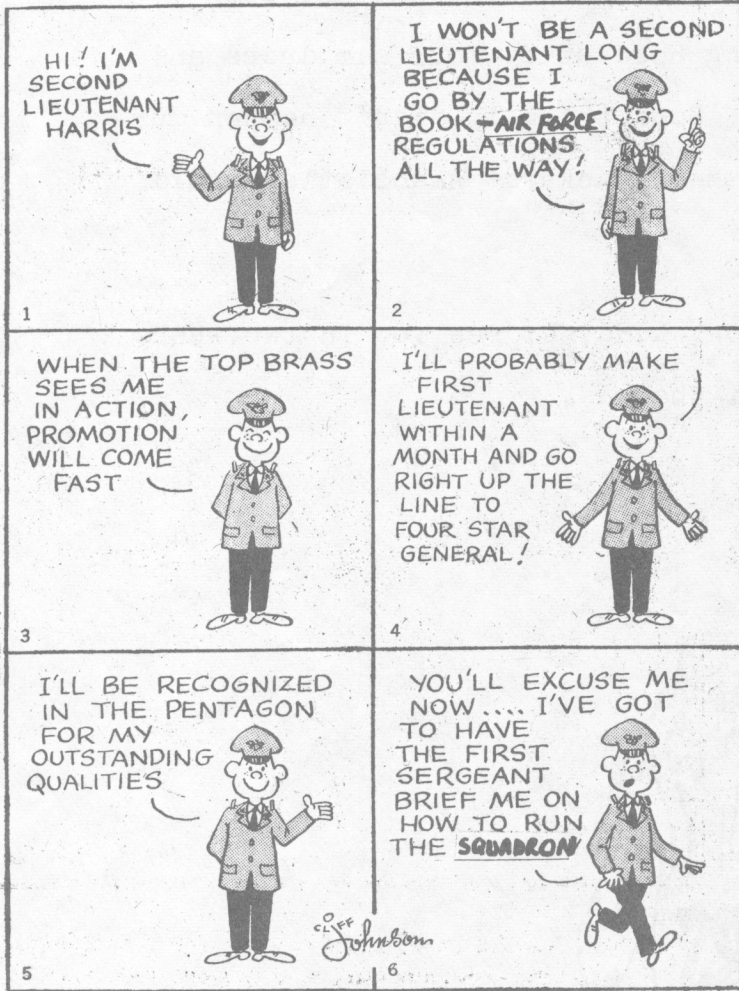

Latest episode of AF vs Contractor was won recently by the Contractor. Seems that the A-Hall ballroom ceiling had not been fastened to the roof and was being held up by four air ducts and a half-dozen lights, so it fell. Good thing it didn't happen during a tea dance, as the American Meat Packers' Association would never have forgiven us.

Afraid that's all the dirt for now, kiddies; see you in two weeks if you haven't left for Berkeley, that is.

BACK TO SCHOOL FALL FASHIONS

(A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE DODO)

This fall as never before, color and brilliance, dazzling splashes of psychedelic mindblown patterns, and the arrogant jauntiness of supreme self-confidence are the key to the "in" look. Here we see the look typical of the season--but if you have not the coin to dress with the best, belay those fears! Fashion can be yours, utilizing inexpensive items from your own distinctive cadet wardrobe!

The photo at left shows in detail the superb Nehru jacket that is easily fashioned from your old alpha blouse. Complementing the design is a smart "digger" hat, easily converted from the 2^o survival head-gear. To the right you see the maturation of the paramilitary look so popular last season. Understated elegance is the key here, with the 100% horse-hair blanket overcoat being set off by the delightfully quaint "50-mission" look. Note the subtle, childlike combination of military arrogance coupled with Linus-like insecurity symbolized by the darling stuffed mouse. The final photo, a slight departure, shows how a cadet may adapt his old civilian clothing to display one's hard-earned rank to his adoring public while on privileges. (Note the steely-eyed professional competence of this hardened killer as he contemplates a rewarding future in "the Hole".)

In the future, the Dodo will bring you such exciting public service features as "How to Jam AP Radar", "Aguide to Beautiful Downtown Pueblo", and "The Dodo Editor Marches Tours".

Denver does have its share of fine soul sisters, and Miss Arleen Johnson is definite proof. Miss Johnson, known affectionately among the brothers as "Eleanor Rigby", is presently a hostess for Frontier Airlines and is based at Stapleton. Having attended CU, our airline Arleen has shown her versatility by singing and modeling. Her present interests include the color gold, flying, a cool daiquiri, and a certain Frat active.

Historians have discovered that Alexander the Great equipped his army with a cheap, efficient method of telling time. It consisted of a piece of cloth chemically treated so it would change colors with the sun's heat, thereby indicating the time. The soldiers were quick to nickname the invention "Alexander's Rag Time Band."

A SINCERE REQUEST from THE DODO STAFF

We of the Dodo staff wage a constant battle with the establishment; we feel that since our circulation is intended solely for the members of the Cadet Wing, censorship should not be imposed upon the Dodo. Our purpose is to entertain and inform you, and to plant an occasional seed which we hope will bloom into serious, objective questioning of some of the more ridiculous policies which infest our hallowed institution. In order that we may know how you feel about censorship, and so that we may have a lever with which to ply the administration for a change in policy, we request that you inform your squadron clerk whether you would prefer more, the same, or a lesser amount of censorship of the Dodo. Squadron clerks please phone their counts to C/1C Grandjean, CS-05; we thank you for your cooperation.

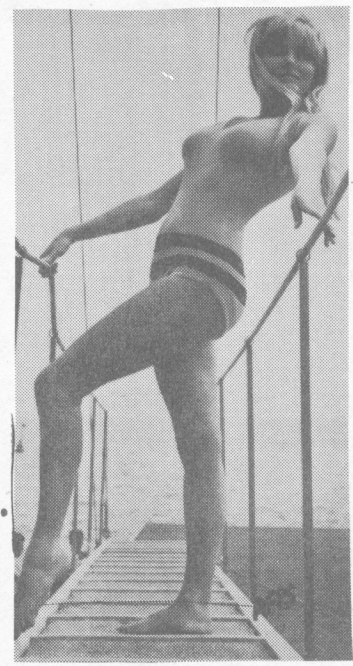

Sincerely, the Staff

THANK GOD!

NOBODY'S! Responsibility and decision are lonely tasks. The ~~St. Benedict's~~^{USAPA} student is left alone at them. He is his own man. For achievement at ~~St. Benedict's~~^{USAPA} means more than conformity or devotion to academe. It means social involvement and willingness "to do your own thing." (We make sure it happens that way.)

THE YOUNG MAN who comes here soon discovers that he must be able to evaluate, revise and innovate. ~~St. Benedict's~~^{USAPA} College is a community where a young man can learn in a personal way just what his hopes can mean. (Our students have a championship ~~basketball~~^{bowling} team and their own ~~coffeehouse~~.)

HOW DO WE DO IT? The ~~1500~~¹⁶⁶ year old tradition of ~~Benedictine~~^{WEST POINT} learning is our guide. It seems to work in the New World as well — ~~St. Benedict's~~^{USAPA} in ~~Atchison~~^{ARAPAH, COLO.} has been at it now for ~~10~~¹⁷⁴ years. (Yet we are tuned in to the ~~20th~~^{21st} century student.)

1173 YOUNG MEN right now seem to be thriving on this, the ~~Benedictine~~^{USAPA} Way. (And we're looking for more.)

THE OTHER 1327 ARE DISTRESSINGLY MALCONTENT.
