Youth Hockey

A GAME OF INCHES — A member of one of the upper division teams scores a goal in action at the Academy Field House. The Academy has seven teams in five divisions participating in Little League Hockey.

Ice hockey is fast becoming one of the most popular spectator sports in the United States and here at our nation's youngest service academy it is no exception.

One of 18 intercollegiate sports, the fast-moving game is watched by thousands on Friday and Saturday evenings during the hockey season and by sleepy parents at 6 a.m. on Saturday.

Six o'clock in the morning?

Yes, that is correct. Before the sun makes its full appearance in the Colorado sky hundreds of youngsters, ranging in age between 4 and 14, are skating their hearts out.

These youngsters are all participants in the Air Force Academy's Youth Hockey Program, believed to be the only one of its kind in the United States Air Force.

"We are most fortunate to have the facilities available to support youth hockey," commented Sherman Black, Youth Director. "Without use of the Field House and the cooperation of the Academy's Athletic Department the program would not be in existence today.

"I think it is important to note that all coaches and officials are volunteers. Without their dedication and experience youth hockey would not be a reality. They are the backbone of the program."

Black pointed out that the Academy's program has five divisions: Rookies (any age), Mites (6-8), Squirts (9-10), Pee Wees (11-12), and Bantams (13-14).

The man that made the entire program a reality is a noncommissioned officer from Newberry, Mich. Four years ago Technical Sergeant Larry Cronk had an idea and his idea paid off. He thought that a youth program should be started to give young men a chance to play a sport he enjoyed so much while in high school.

"We have a fantastic ice rink in the Cadet Field House and I just thought that the kids at the Academy could also share its use. When Lieutenant Colonel Bob Burton and I announced that we would be starting the program, 92 eager beavers showed up, unfortunately only 10 of them could skate. With a lot of patience and practice we started youth hockey. All we had was a rookie program, no games, just fundamentals. The second year (1970) interest grew and the rookies became better skaters and we formed four teams. In 1971 the program grew to six teams and we decided that it was time for us to compete out of Colorado Springs. We entered a team in the state tournament and much to many's surprise, we placed third."

Cronk, in addition to being the Academy's rink manager, also coached Air Academy High's varsity hockey team. "That was quite an experience but I loved every minute of it."

Larry's enthusiasm for the sport and his dedication to his job was paramount in assigning him an additional job," commented Lieutenant Colonel Anthony Cillo, assistant athletic director. "He came to the Athletic Department and said he would like to help coach the Academy's varsity hockey team. Because of his love of the sport, he is now an assistant coach for the team."

"The secret to participating in hockey is not relegated to size of strength but to a desire to skate. A kid can have the proper equipment and most professional coaches, but if the want is not there, on both the parents' and the child's part, he will not succeed," Cronk remarked.

"The Rookies was formed to give youngsters the opportunity to learn to skate," Black remarked. "There is no age limit; youngsters enroll and we start them in the program. When we see that they can skate the coach

SCORE — In perfect position for a score, a member of the Academy's Little League Hockey team, the Jets, makes a red lighter on the opponent. The Academy has five divisions in their program. The youngsters range in age from 4 to 14.

Grows Up Fast

moves them to a team. It is a good learning process and no pressure is applied."

"I've been involved with the program for about four years," commented Colonel Burton, 37, Andover, Mass., coach of the Rookies. "I guess you might say that I was one of the first ones to get involved. I believe that this beginning program is most important. The young men learn basics and game fundamentals."

Burton, who is an assistant professor of electrical engineering, never played organized hockey. "The only hockey I played was of the sand lot variety. It was rough not being organized, but we all had a lot of fun."

"I think that each parent should realize that we are only teaching basic, sound fundamental hockey. Youngsters are not being taught to be experts; that will come at a later time, when they move up in a division. My assistants and I try to instill good sportsmanship in each boy and give them an opportunity to work as a team," Burton said.

Next step up from the Rookies is the Mites. These youngsters have learned basic hockey and are ready for organized sport. The young icers range in age between six and eight.

"This is a fairly new division," commented Major Bob Shaller, Mite coach. "The Rookie division was turning out so many good skaters that Youth Activities consented to start another team. We have been most fortunate in that games have been scheduled with similar age groups in Denver and Boulder. This exposure has helped the young men and they are coming along beautifully. They are working as a team and when they do that they learn what organized sports is all about."

Major Schaller is a 1962 graduate of the Air Force Academy. His job at the Academy is physics instructor.

PILE UP—No, it is not a fight, but a display of excitement as members of the Mite Division, the Jets, congratulate their goalie on a victory. The Academy is believed to have the only Little League Hockey program in the Air Force.

LARRY CRONK

The St. Louis native is also a referee and the Academy representative to the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States.

Another Academy graduate is also very active in the youth hockey program. Major Larry Day, a 1963 graduate, uses cadet resources to help him with his coaching.

"I believe that the cadets have an influence on all the youngsters that are participating. I have two cadets that volunteer their Saturday mornings and help me coach my team," Day explained. Major Day coaches a Pee Wee team (11-12) and also referees games. "Many friends ask me what it takes for a youngster to become a proficient skater. I tell them that first the boy has to want to skate and then it is up to the parents to see that they are able to participate. We have very early practice times; but the schedule gives all age groups a chance to 'share the wealth' and take turns starting practice at 6 a.m."

Ice time is critical since the varsity hockey team has to play their games and practices in the same arena. Besides the varsity team the high school needs ice time for their practice and games.

"Although ice time is a problem," Day said, "Everyone involved does their best to see that all the kids get a chance to practice."

The hockey program at the Academy, although unique in the Air Force, is one of many in Colorado and enthusiasm is running high. People from all over the world are being introduced to this sport which was once relegated only to the cold country.

"I never skated before I came to the Academy," remarked Geoffrey Woodman, 7, Fayette, Ark., a rookie. "It sure is a lot of fun and I enjoy shooting the puck. The only thing I don't like is stopping. I fall down too much."

Today's Game | AIR FORCE vs NEW MEXICO

By HAL BATEMAN
Air Force Sports Information Director

Only a veteran Air Force fan will remember the last time the Falcons played New Mexico in football.

It was in 1963 and Air Force scored a 30-8 victory enroute to the Gator Bowl.

Star of that game was quarterback Terry Isaacson, now an Air Force assistant football coach, who scored twice, ran for 124 yards on 24 carries and completed five of seven passes for 78 yards.

That game was played in Albuquerque and the Lobos of New Mexico will be making their first appearance in Falcon Stadium.

Here are the scores in the series:

1957 at Denver	Air Force 31, New Mexico 0
1958 at Albuquerque	Air Force 45, New Mexico 7
1959 at Denver	New Mexico 28, Air Force 27
1961 at Albuquerque	New Mexico 21, Air Force 16
1963 at Albuquerque	Air Force 30, New Mexico 8

If those scores are any indication, then today's game should be a high-scoring and an exciting one.

The Lobos have already been involved in two high-scoring games, defeating New Mexico State, 48-6, in the season opener, then falling to Texas Tech, 41-7, last Saturday.

The Lobos have one of the nation's most exciting players in quarterback Don Woods, who had a great day against New Mexico State, gaining 274 yards, including 188 rushing, one of the top college football performances of the early season.

* * * * *

A tip of the hat this week to Falcon senior quarterback Rich Haynie, who set a career touchdown record against Oregon. His six-yard pass to split end Bob Farr was the 26th T.D. pass of Haynie's Air Force career, breaking the old record of 25 he shared with Bob Parker, the Falcon quarterback who played in 1969 and 1970.

Farr, incidentally, is setting some sort of record for efficiency. The Glendale, Calif., junior has caught nine passes the last two seasons but five of them have been for touchdowns. Last season, his first three catches of the season were all for scores. Bob, of course, holds a share of an Academy record, teaming with Bob Thompson on an 87-yard touchdown pass play against Davidson.

VOUGHT SYSTEMS DIVISION
LTV AEROSPACE CORPORATION

THIS IS THE ACADEMY

Location: Approximately 10 miles north of Colorado Springs, Colorado, at the base of the Rampart Range of the Rocky Mountains. The Academy site covers 18,000 acres.

Enrollment: 4,200 (approximate). Public Law 88-276 was signed by the President on 3 March 1964 authorizing an increase in strength of the Cadet Wing from 2,529 to 4,417.

Founded: Authorized 1 April 1954. The first class was received 11 July 1955. The first class was graduated in June 1959.

Colors: Silver and Blue

Nickname: Falcons

Mascot: Falcon (Mach I)

Curriculum: The U.S. Air Force Academy is neither an engineering nor a liberal arts college, but combines certain elements of both. It may be accurately described as a school of general education for professional Air Force Officers—a school which endeavors to give each cadet the knowledge and qualities of leadership required of an officer in the United States Air Force and a basis for continued development throughout a lifetime of service to his country, leading to readiness for responsibilities as a future air commander. A cadet who completes the 4-year course will graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree and a commission as a second lieutenant in the Regular Air Force.

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE ACADEMY MISSION

To provide instruction and experience to each cadet so that he graduates with the knowledge and characteristics essential to leadership and the motivation to become a career officer in the United States Air Force.

Stadium Information

LOST AND FOUND

If you lose an article while attending a game at Falcon Stadium, check at the main ticket office in the east building or the main concessions office on the top tier of the west side. If you find an article in the stadium area, please turn it in to any of the concession stands, the main ticket office or the main concessions office.

FIRST AID

Trained medical personnel are in attendance at all Air Force home games. In case of any emergency, report it immediately to the head usher in your portal. There are two first aid rooms and two first aid stations located in Falcon Stadium. The rooms are located in the east side building and on the third tier of the west side, directly under the press box. The stations are located off the walkways of the first and second tiers in the vicinity of the 50-yard line.

EMERGENCY CALLS

Individuals expecting emergency calls should file their portal section, row and seat number with the command post, located in the east side building. Office number is 472-1151. A call number will then be issued. No special announcements are made over the public address system except in cases of gravest emergency. Please do not request this service needlessly.

STADIUM FACTS

For natural beauty, Falcon Stadium is hard to surpass. Built into the base of the Rampart Range mountains, the modern facility also is one of the most functional sports structures in the country.

The concrete structure, built in a natural bowl, has 49,068 permanent seats and can hold up to 50,000 spectators with additional temporary bleachers. There is one level of seats on the east side and three tiers of seats on the west, each serviced by two concession stands and restroom areas. All seats are within easy walking distance of the 9,610-vehicle capacity parking lot which surrounds the stadium on three sides.

The stadium is easily accessible from divided U. S. Interstate 25 and the Academy's Stadium Boulevard which leads directly to the parking lot. There is also ample parking space for 300 commercial busses, and a rail siding is located just a few hundred yards from the bowl for special trains.

FALCON SPOTLIGHT:

JIM MORRIS

5-11, 206-pound senior linebacker from Duryea, Pa.

Picked up where he left off last year, leading the Falcons in tackles with nine against Oregon last week. A definite All-America candidate, he is a co-captain this year. A two-year starter, he led the team in tackles last fall and also called the defensive signals. He played 218 minutes as a sophomore and 270 last fall. An extremely hard hitter, he has excellent mobility and is a real hustler. One of his best games was against Navy last year when he had 17 tackles. He intercepted a pass against Wyoming and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown. An older brother, the late Richard Morris, was a Falcon football letterman in 1962 and 1963.

MEET THE FALCONS

ROD HENNEK, 5-11, 190-pound cornerback from Lexington, Neb. Killed off one Oregon drive last week with an 11-yard pass interception. Earned his first varsity letter last year as a reserve cornerback, playing 41 minutes. Last fall, he was in on 12 tackles, broke up two passes and recovered a fumble. Carries a 3.20 cumulative average.

WAYNE WILLIS, 6-1, 226-pound junior center from Chandler, Ariz. Has the tough job this year of filling the spot of All-American center Orderia Mitchell of the Falcons. Developed rapidly last season and won a varsity letter with 29 minutes in 1972. Has good quickness and is a solid technician.

BILL MURRAY, 6-2, 223-pound junior defensive end from Kansas City. Lettered as a starting tight end last season with 206 minutes of action but switched to defensive end during the spring to take advantage of his size and speed. Last season, he caught nine passes for 156 yards and a score. He is majoring in life sciences.

LARRY FARISS, 6-0, 221-pound junior guard from Medford, Ore. Showed rapid improvement last season and wound up as a starter after Lance Webb was injured. Now plays right guard while Webb is at left guard this year. Has excellent fundamentals and is a versatile athlete earning a junior varsity award on the Falcon wrestling team. Majors in geography.

MIKE MARK, 5-9, 187-pound junior tailback from Shreveport, La. Leading rusher in the Falcons' win over Oregon last week with 69 yards and a touchdown. Also caught two passes for 22 yards and returned a punt for 16. Was the team's third-leading rusher in 1972 as a reserve tailback and gained 107 yards against Colorado State for his best game. Carries a 3.29 cumulative average in a history major.

ENROLLMENT GROWING AT NEW MEXICO

Nearly half of all college students in New Mexico are enrolled at the University of New Mexico.

UNM, with its main campus at Albuquerque, has experienced an enrollment gain of more than 80 per cent in the last seven years, going from about 10,000 students in 1964 to more than 19,000 this year. The bulk of the student population is at the Albuquerque campus. Other student centers are a two-year branch in Gallup, N.M., graduate and undergraduate resident centers in Los Alamos, N.M., and a center for study and research in Quito, Ecuador.

While UNM attracts students from around the globe, the majority come from New Mexican homes.

Enrollment is spread among 11 colleges and schools — University College, the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Education, Fine Arts, Nursing, and Pharmacy, and the Schools of Law, Medicine, and Business and Administrative Sciences, and the Graduate School.

Nearly a quarter of UNM's enrollment is at the graduate and professional level. More than 3,000 students are enrolled in the Graduate School alone. The University offers the master's degree in 47 fields and the doctorate in 27 programs in the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Education, Engineering, Fine Arts, Law, and Medicine.

During its early years the University of New Mexico acquired an outstanding reputation for academic excellence in fields integrally related to its geographical location, such as Anthropology, Spanish Language and Literature, and Latin American Studies. Over the years these strengths have been carefully preserved and expanded to bring UNM an international reputation in these areas.

The University has many ties with Latin America, in addition to the Andean Study Center — as much a UNM campus as the main one at Albuquerque — in Quito. The University has developed special teacher education programs, in Spanish, for educators at different levels from several Latin American nations, including Paraguay, Ecuador, Brazil, and Bolivia. In addition, it has now or has had cooperative arrangements with Colombia, Brazil, and Ecuador for long-term programs aimed at improving elementary and secondary teacher training and school plant facilities in those countries.

AFA MARCHING BAND

The United States Air Force Academy Marching Band has been hailed as the "World's finest military marching band."

This 100-piece musical organization contains the standard band instrumentation with the addition of the Academy's Drum and Bugle Corps. This combination of band and bugles is unique in the United States today. The thrilling sound produced is a direct result of special arrangements written by the band's own arranging staff.

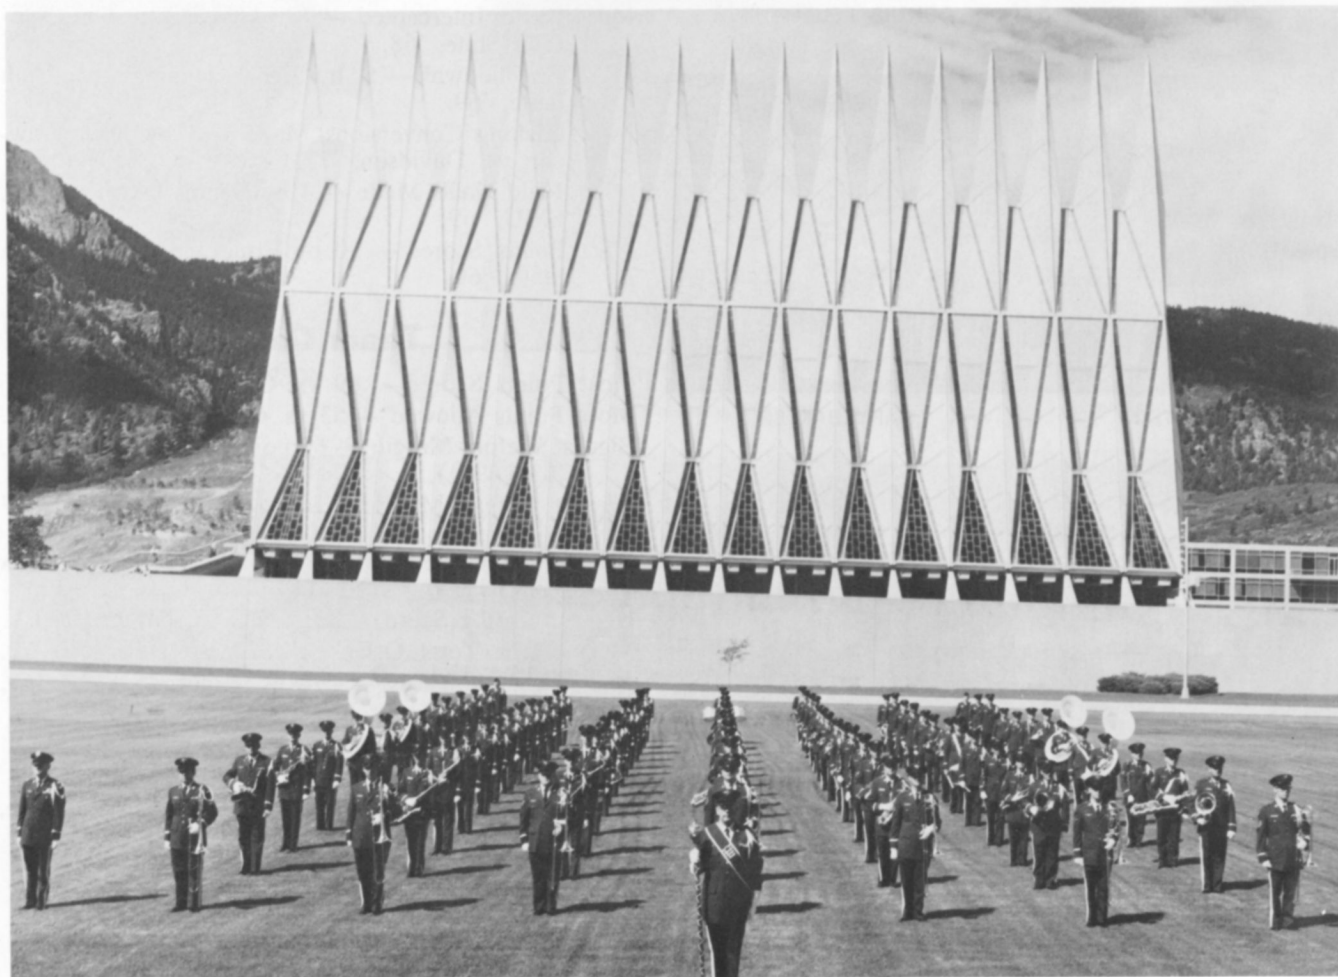

The Marching Band may be seen several times during the week performing at the cadet noon formation and frequently on Saturday morning as they participate in the formal dress parades of the Cadet Wing. They also appear at Academy football games and throughout the country in such national prominent functions as Presidential Inauguration Ceremonies, major Bowl Parades, pro football games and Music Educators' Conventions.

FALCONAIRES

The "Falconaires" jazz/rock ensemble, led by Senior Master Sergeant Chuck Gardner, take their name from the mascot of the United States Air Force Academy, a unit of the United States Air Force Academy Band. This organization provides today's music in its most exciting form. These 17 musicians display their unique talents in concerts and stage band clinics nationwide.

The "Falconaires" have recorded their own musical arrangements in Hollywood, California and Las Vegas, Nevada. Most of their music is written by their own arranging staff.

This stage band performs for concerts and cadet dances at the Air Force Academy as well as performing for television, radio, colleges, and high schools. They have performed with Bob Hope, Doc Severinson, Johnny Smith, Peanuts Hucko, Joni Sommers, Louie Bellson, Roy Burns, Clark Terry, and other notables too numerous to mention. Doc Severinson says, "I rate the 'Falconaires' as one of the best today."

Weather permitting, the "Falconaires" will perform several musical presentations prior to kick-off of each home game.

College Rules Keep Pace with Game

by DAVID M. NELSON, Secretary-Editor, NCAA Football Rules Committee

There are some sports watchers who believe that the NCAA has a two-front offensive underway, one with the AAU and the other with professional sports. The offensive aimed at the pros is based on the NCAA constitutional provision that there must be a clear demarcation between college athletics and professional sports. Nowhere does the demarcation stand out more than in the differences in the football rules of the two groups.

Many Changes

The college game continues to be a dynamic, exciting contest catalyzed by rules changes that adapt to the cycles of the sport which are created by the increased speed, size and greater skills of the players. There are 180 changes listed for the last 15 years, covering everything from the scoring, (two-point conversion), the size of the goal posts (23' 4"), the timing of the game (starting and stopping the clock), a prohibition against blocking below the waist and at least one adjustment in each of the ten basic rules.

While keeping the game alive with innovative changes the NCAA and the National High School Federation have marched to the same drummer, making 73 changes in the last seven years to bring the two codes closer together. There have been very few rule changes in professional football since 1959. The only significant ones in 13 years were (1) the prohibition against grabbing the face mask, (2) the addition of the sixth official and (3) moving the hash marks 20 yards from the sideline. The demarcation between professional football and the college game was dramatically demonstrated by three games played on the West Coast last season. Take a look at the best of the two football worlds and see where the action is:

The National High School Federation and college football are not resting on their laurels and are annually adjusting their rules to the modern game. On the opposite page are the major NCAA changes in order of importance with capsule summaries in the turf handicapper's style.

The two most significant changes for 1973 are the substitution change and the permission given for each team to use its own ball. The change in the substitution rule to permit as many as eleven substitutes to enter the game while the ball is dead originated with the AFCA Football Rules Committee at their meeting in Chicago last January. The coaches have been clamoring for this completely free rule since 1965 when Rule 3-5-1 was changed to permit "platoon football."

Pleasant Surprise

After attempting without success for several years to get a more liberal rule, the coaches forgot about it. The sudden change came as a pleasant surprise to the coaching fraternity. The change will permit faster and smaller players to cover punts and will also permit faster, more agile players to rush the punt.

The officials will "burn a few barns" because they no longer have to check substitutes during the downs other than those where team possession changed. The Rules Committee was elated because three pages of nit-picking interpretations were deleted from the Official Rules Interpretations Book. Everybody seems happy, so the Rules Committee might have done something right for a change.

A change in the rule governing the type of ball that may be used in the game is another amendment that originated with the AFCA. Prior to the 1973 adjustment governing the type of ball used in the game, one brand or manufacture of ball meeting the rule specifications had to be used for the entire game. Coaches complained that one brand either felt different, spiraled differently, looked different, or had a peculiar odor; and these little things upset the passers and kickers so much they gave sub-par performances on the road. Previously, the home team had the choice of the ball to be used in a game.

Helium-Filled Ball?

The new rule raises several interesting questions including the violation of the old adage that you never allow an opponent to use his own ball,

Today's football officials are finding that they must hustle as much off the field as they do on, due to the ever-changing rules of the college game.

dice or cards. Also, it will be difficult to determine how many balls to take to a road game, especially if the visiting team scores six or seven touchdowns and kicks the conversions into the stands. Then there is the problem of handing a team a different ball when they are kicking out of their own end zone. This is the place you might get the one filled with helium or sand.

The Rules Committee is two for two with the coaches because of these changes. It pays to listen to the coaches who are usually right about one thing, i. e., how the game of football should be played.

The Latest Changes...

Rule Description

1-2-4 It is recommended that the area between the sideline and the limit line (6 feet) in the team area be marked solid white throughout.

Comment

This rule should keep people at the sideline from "stepping on the coaches' toes."

1-2-6 Eight flexible pylons of red or orange color (4" x 4" square x 18" high) must be used at the intersections of sidelines with goal lines and end lines (effective 1974 season).

With eight red pylons on the field, the dog who gets on the field will think he is in fire hydrant heaven.

1-3-2 During the entire game, either team may use a & ball of their choice when they are in possession. Int. Book

Using your own ball is almost as good as using your own dice or cards but you can't take your ball and go home.

1-4-4 Numbers at least 8 inches high on the front and 10 inches on the back of the jersey respectively must be worn. Ten inches in front and 12 inches in back are now legal.

Putting 12 inch numbers on 5'8" players is like putting Dick Butkus's jersey on Eddie LeBaron.

1-4-4 All players must wear securely fastened chin straps on their helmets.

This means the helmet can no longer go off without the head going with it and players won't lose their heads.

1-4-4 All players shall use an intraoral mouth protector composed of at least two portions, one an inter-occlusion portion and the other a labial portion.

There will be no evidence of teeth marks if a player bites an opponent.

1-4-5 Players with artificial arms, legs, or hands are (d) prohibited from playing.

Passers with glass arms are still legal and they get a break.

2-7-2 A valid fair catch signal is extending one hand and one arm above the head and waving them from side to side. (Interpretation: Shading the eyes is an invalid signal unless given before or after a valid fair catch signal.)

What happens if the signal is given from side to side with one hand while shading the eyes with the other?

3-5-1 Any number of eligible substitutes may enter the game between periods, after a score or try, or when the ball is dead during an interval between downs.

With this change, substitutes and officials will no longer be waving at each other during substitutions.

3-5-2 An incoming substitute must enter the game from (c) his team area, and a replaced player must leave the game at the sideline of his team area.

If you want to join the opposing team at their bench when things get rough, it can't be done.

4-1-3 When Team A catches an illegal forward pass in (c) Team B's end zone, or when Team A completes a pass in Team B's end zone to an ineligible player, the ball is dead.

This makes legal what officials have done for years and have been telling the Rules Committee to get it in the Rules.

4-1-2 If a whistle is sounded inadvertently when the & ball is free on a fumble, the ball is returned to the Int. spot of last possession and given to the team that Book had possession of the ball at that spot.

Gives the official an escape clause, so he does not have to swallow his whistle when he has blown it inadvertently.

5-1-3 The ball shall always be spotted with its length axis parallel to the sideline before measuring. The ball will be placed parallel with the sideline.

This means there will be no more measurements that are on the bias.

Air Force Academy Songs and Yells

GO FALCONS

(Fight Song)
Words by Cadet R. L. Counts
Melody by Cadet J. C. Vance Arrangement by
A/1c H. Merrick, USAFA Band
Rev up and go Falcons to the fight,
For our spirit is high
Gear up and go Falcons surge ahead
On the field as in the sky;
For you will see silver and blue,
Reign supreme upon the field;
We will prove that we can't be beaten,
For the Falcons never yield.

THE BIG YELL

(Lots of noise, building up)
FIGHT!
FIGHT!
(Quiet, raise hat with right hand.)

THE AIR FORCE SONG

Off we go, into the wild blue yonder
Climbing high into the sun;
Here they come zooming to meet our thunder,
At 'em boys, give 'er the gun!
Down we dive spouting our flame from under,
Off with one hell-uv-a-roar!
We live in fame or go down in flame!
Nothing'll stop the U. S. Air Force!

Air Force vs. Penn State, Oct. 6, 1973

JOHN CAPPELLETTI

Tailback

Offensive captain of the Nittany Lions this year, he had the second best rushing season in Penn State history in 1972 when he gained 1,117 yards in his first year as a running back, while scoring 12 touchdowns. He also snared 16 passes for 138 yards and another score. Five times last year he gained over 100 yards rushing, including 162 yards against Syracuse and 154 against West Virginia. Was originally a quarterback in high school and played defensive back for Penn State as a sophomore, intercepting a pass in the 1971 Air Force-Penn State clash.

Introducing the 1974 Chevelle Malibu Classic.
Luxury just stopped being a spectator sport.

That's right. This is a 1974 Chevelle. The brand-new Malibu Classic.

Which means that now you can do a whole lot more than look at luxury cars in football programs. You can participate.

At any Chevrolet dealer's.

All this, for the price of a Chevelle.
